

Jemez River Aquatic and Riparian

The existing riparian vegetation in the project area is primarily comprised of non-native salt cedars and Russian olives. Historically, the river channel meandered which supported the native Jemez River riparian habitat. Restoration features include improving native riparian and aquatic habitat by reestablishing a balance between discharge, flow duration, frequency of peak flows and river geomorphologic processes thereby restoring.